

1 GUMLAND

Our property is a retreat - from the bubbling creek to the deciduous birch trees. Wander across the lawn to the giant bamboo circle. We see our garden as a natural growing entity that changes with the seasons and attracts numerous birds and other wildlife. Wander the pathways and enjoy the ambiance.

2 MOUNTAIN VIEW EAST

A garden combining several themes - large cottage garden beds overlooked by the formality of an Italian style courtyard with fountains, statues & box hedging - offset by views of the Glasshouse Mountains. A vast array of trees, shrubs & cottage plants delight, as you stroll the paths of this captivating 1.5 ha of sheer heaven.

3 MOUNTAIN VIEW WEST

Six years ago, a wall of weeds hid our blank canvas. Mature trees and sweeping lawns now offset rare succulents and cottage-style gardens, where birds and beehives thrive amid all-year colour and textures. Follow the Fairy Gardens to the dry creek bed and cottage orchard.

4 RANGERS

In 2009 the once derelict garden consisted of a few large trees, old tree ferns and some hedging. The new owners transformed the grounds surrounding the sprawling Queenslander into a genteel setting with magnolias, wisteria and deciduous trees interlaced with rows of formal box hedging - and other interesting hedges of varied textures and colours.

5 CARRAMAR VIEW

Level acre with front garden featuring park-like lawns, mature trees and shaped hedges. Formally bordered decorative areas with meandering paths through a shady arbour, palm grove, hibiscus, agapanthus, azaleas, hippeastrums & bromeliads. Obi Valley views through remnant rainforest, vegetable gardens and extensive orchard.

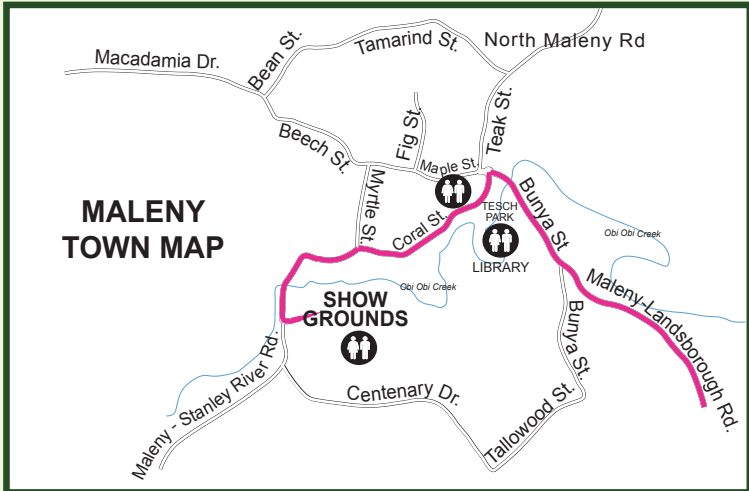

6 CARRAMAR

This 1.5 acres was first planted out around 1995. Many trees, including unusual North Queensland and other bush tucker, are now quite large. There are areas of woodland underplanted with begonias and tropical foliage, cottage garden, camellias, shade gardens and food garden. Views to the Conondale Ranges
